

Privacy Policy

Your privacy is critically important to us. At Moments we have a few fundamental principles:

- We don't ask you for personal information unless we truly need it. (We can't stand services that ask you for things like your gender or income level for no apparent reason.)
- We don't share your personal information with anyone except to comply with the law, develop our products, or protect our rights.
- We don't store personal information on our servers unless required for the on-going operation of one of our services.

Below is our privacy policy, which incorporates these goals:

If you have questions about deleting or correcting your personal data please contact our support team.

Website Visitors

Like most website operators, Moments collects non-personally-identifying information of the sort that web browsers and servers typically make available, such as the browser type, language preference, referring site, and the date and time of each visitor request. Moments' purpose in collecting non-personally identifying information is to better understand how Moments' visitors use its website. From time to time, Moments may release non-personally-identifying information in the aggregate, e.g., by publishing a report on trends in the usage of its website.

Moments also collects potentially personally-identifying information like Internet Protocol (IP) addresses for logged in users and for users leaving comments on WordPress.com blogs. Moments only discloses logged in user and commenter IP addresses under the same circumstances that it uses and discloses personally-identifying information as described below, except that blog commenter IP addresses are visible and disclosed to the administrators of the blog where the comment was left.

Location Data

To customize our service for you, we and our partners may collect, use, and share precise location data, including the real-time geographic location of your computer or device. This location data is collected anonymously in a form that does not personally identify you and is used only to provide and improve our service. We may obtain your consent on your first use of the service.

Gathering of Personally-Identifying Information

Certain visitors to Moments' websites choose to interact with Moments in ways that require Moments to gather personally-identifying information. The amount and type of information that Moments gathers depends on the nature of the interaction. For example, we ask visitors who sign up for an account at OurMoments.co to provide a username and email address. In each case, Moments collects such information only insofar as is necessary or appropriate to fulfill the purpose of the visitor's interaction with Moments. Moments does not disclose personally-identifying information other than as described below. And visitors can always refuse to supply personally-identifying information, with the caveat that it may prevent them from engaging in certain website-related activities.

Aggregated Statistics

Moments may collect statistics about the behavior of visitors to its websites. Moments may display this information publicly or provide it to others. However, Moments does not disclose personally-identifying information other than as described below.

Protection of Certain Personally-Identifying Information

Moments discloses potentially personally-identifying and personally-identifying information only to those of its employees, contractors and affiliated organizations that (i) need to know that information in order to process it on Moments' behalf or to provide services available at Moments' websites, and (ii) that have agreed not to disclose it to others. Some of those employees, contractors and affiliated organizations may be located outside of your home country; by using Moments' websites, you consent to the transfer of such information to them. Moments will not rent or sell potentially personally-identifying and personally-identifying information to anyone. Other than to its employees, contractors and affiliated organizations, as described above, Moments discloses potentially personally-identifying and personally-identifying information only in response to a subpoena, court order or other governmental request, or when Moments believes in good faith that disclosure is reasonably necessary to protect the property or rights of Moments, third parties or the public at large. If you are a registered user of an Moments website and have supplied your email address, Moments may occasionally send you an email to tell you about new features, solicit your feedback, or just keep you up to date with what's going on with Moments and our products. We primarily use our various product blogs to communicate this type of information, so we expect to keep this type of email to a minimum. If you send us a request (for example via a support email or via one of our feedback mechanisms), we reserve the right to publish it in order to help us clarify or respond to your request or to help us support other users. Moments takes all measures reasonably necessary to protect against the unauthorized access, use, alteration or destruction of potentially personally-identifying and personally-identifying information.

Cookies

A cookie is a string of information that a website stores on a visitor's computer, and that the visitor's browser provides to the website each time the visitor returns. Moments uses cookies to help Moments identify and track visitors, their usage of Moments website, and their website access preferences. Moments visitors who do not wish to have cookies placed on their computers should set their browsers to refuse cookies before using Moments' websites, with the drawback that certain features of Moments' websites may not function properly without the aid of cookies.

Business Transfers

If Moments, or substantially all of its assets were acquired, or in the unlikely event that Moments goes out of business or enters bankruptcy, user information would be one of the assets that is transferred or acquired by a third party. You acknowledge that such transfers may occur, and that any acquirer of Moments may continue to use your personal information as set forth in this policy.

Ads

Ads appearing on any of our websites may be delivered to users by advertising partners, who may set cookies. These cookies allow the ad server to recognize your computer each time they send you an online advertisement to compile information about you or others who use your computer. This information allows ad networks to, among other things, deliver targeted advertisements that they believe will be of most interest to you. This Privacy Policy covers the use of cookies by Moments and does not cover the use of cookies by any advertisers.
